

The Messianic Aleph Tav Scriptures (MATS)

A Presentation of Sample Verses

“In fact the sages do deduce laws from the places where the aleph-tav appears. The rule is that it is meant to include something above and beyond the limited definition of the word. Rabbi S.R. Hirsch explains that it is related to the word ‘Os’ or sign, i.e. the thing stands for something more than itself.”

Exo 14:13

www.AlephTavScriptures.com

את

An illustration depicting the biblical event of the parting of the Red Sea. In the center, Moses, with a long white beard and wearing a brown robe, stands on a narrow path of dry ground. He holds a wooden staff high above his head with both hands. Behind him, a large crowd of people in traditional robes follows. On either side of the path, the sea is parted into two massive, towering walls of blue water. Above the scene, a bright, golden light emanates from a central point, with rays of light shining down. The Hebrew word 'את' (et) is written in red above the light. At the bottom of the illustration, there is a block of text in blue and red.

But you lift up את your rod and stretch out את your hand over the sea and divide it...

And stretched out Moses אָרַח his hand over the sea...

A dramatic scene of a path leading through a parted sea under a starry night sky. The path is made of cracked, reddish-brown earth and leads from the bottom center towards a bright, glowing light at the horizon where the sea is parted. The water on either side is dark blue and turbulent, with white foam from the waves. The sky is dark blue with many stars and a few wispy clouds. The overall mood is awe-inspiring and divine.

and made אַת the sea dry
and the waters were divided...

and took off אֶת the wheels
from their chariots.

their flesh shall consume away while they stand upon their feet and their eyes shall consume away in their sockets and their tongue shall consume away in their mouth.

A close-up, high-contrast photograph of a woman's eyes, looking directly at the camera. The lighting is dramatic, with deep shadows and bright highlights on the eyelashes and the whites of the eyes. The overall mood is intimate and contemplative.

I will even betroth you to Me in faithfulness;

and you shall know יְהוָה אֵת
